

Society for Conservation Biology

www.conbio.org/Sections/Europe

JOIN

a society of conservation professionals working for the conservation of biodiversity, ecosystem functions and services. SCB Europe is involved in science, policy, communication, education and training to conserve Europe's unique biodiversity and heritage.

Contact us at: europe@conbio.org

Build a career in conservation. Inspiration, skills, contacts. Make a difference.

- Be part of the international network of acknowledged experts
- Belong to a science-based professional organization
- Get access to the premier sources of scientific knowledge
- Interact with policy and decision-makers, managers, educators
- Participate in education and communication projects
- Increase your opportunities to network, find jobs and collaborators
- Develop new projects and ideas in a friendly community

europe@conbio.org

The Society for Conservation Biology is a global organisation of conservation professionals.
The Europe Section was established in 2002.

Get ready for our 3rd European Congress

eCCB
GLASGOW 2012
www.eccb2012.org